

COMPLAINTS FORM

Hearing practitioners (audiologists and audiometrists)

The Hearing Professional Conduct and Complaints Body Ltd (HPCCB) and Ethics Officer are responsible for managing complaints against audiologist and audiometrist members of Audiology Australia (AudA) and the Australian College of Audiology (ACAud) Inc. HAASA. The HPCCB cannot handle complaints against people who are not a member of one of these bodies. If you are not sure if the person you are making a complaint against is a member you can still complete the form. The Ethics Officer will begin by investigating if they are a member.

The HPCCB Complaints Management and Resolution Procedure by-law describes how complaints are handled. It is available at <https://hpccb.org.au/about/>

Please contact the Ethics Officer if you have any questions regarding how to make a complaint, how your complaint will be handled, or if you need assistance in completing this form by emailing ethicsofficer@hpccb.org.au or calling 0475 245 635.

Section 3: Who received the services this complaint relates to

If you are a healthcare professional and making this complaint about services provided to another person, please carefully read and consider this information before proceeding.

If you are a member of Audiology Australia, the Australian College of Audiology (ACAud) Inc. HAASA, or another healthcare practitioner and a client/patient has told you details that have led to you considering making a complaint, you must:

- Remain neutral and professional when listening to the client’s concerns/complaint about another healthcare practitioner.
- Never offer your opinion on the other healthcare practitioner’s conduct or the services they provided.
- Encourage the client to contact the relevant organisation(s) themselves and discuss further whether or not they would like to make a formal complaint.
- Provide a copy of the Summary of the Code of Conduct for audiologists and audiometrists to the client.
- Encourage the client to contact the Ethics Officer by emailing ethicsofficer@hpccb.org.au or calling 0475 245 635..

This is an example of how you could respond professionally and ethically to a client who is telling you about concerns/complaints regarding another healthcare practitioner:

“I am sorry to hear that you weren’t satisfied with the hearing services you have received before. I can give you an email and phone number of someone who you can speak to you more about your experience and support you if you want to make a formal complaint.”

The Ethics Officer can talk through the client’s concerns/complaints with them and support them in making a formal complaint. The Ethics Officer can:

- answer questions about the Code of Conduct,
- answer questions regarding how to make a complaint,
- answer questions about how their complaint will be handled, and
- provide assistance completing this form.

In exceptional circumstances, it may be appropriate/necessary for you to make the complaint on the client’s behalf.

Depending on the nature of the complaint and the parties involved, the HPCCB may have limited ability to investigate the complaint without the consent of the person who received the services to make a complaint on their behalf.
